Miami Accounting and Advisory Firm Sponsors Kyle Busch Motorsports Driver Erik Jones at NASCAR Camping World Truck Series in Homestead, Fla.

MIAMI, Nov. 18, 2015 – Miami-based accounting and advisory firm Kabat, Schertzer, De La Torre, Taraboulos and Company (KSDT) is pleased to announce its sponsorship of Erik Jones and Kyle Busch Motorsports (KBM) at the final race of the NASCAR Camping World Trucks Series, Nov. 20, at Homestead-Miami Speedway in Homestead, Fla.

Under the terms of the sponsorship, the KSDT logo will appear on the center-body post (B-Post) of Erik Jones's No. 4 Toyota Tundra. In addition, the firm has extended to its clients a unique opportunity to meet Jones and other members of the KBM team at the racetrack.

"As a NASCAR enthusiast, I recognize the immense popularity of the sport and the loyalty and dedication fans commit to its sponsors," said Jeffrey Taraboulos, managing partner with KSDT. "Sponsoring our hometown race in Miami allows us to test the waters and reach a large audience of prospective clients throughout the region and across the Southeast, where we are expanding with new offices at a rapid clip."

With a finish of 15th or better in Friday night's NASCAR Camping World Truck Series season finale at Homestead-Miami (Fla.) Speedway, 19-year-old Erik Jones will be crowned the youngest champion in series history. While Jones certainly aspires to add this major accomplishment to his personal resume, perhaps equally important to the racing prodigy is delivering a much-coveted Driver's Championship to boss and mentor Kyle Busch.

"We are pleased to welcome Kabat, Schertzer, De la Torre, Taraboulos and Company as an associate sponsor on our No. 4 Tundra next week for the Truck Series final race of the season at Homestead-Miami Speedway," Jones said. "It should be an exciting battle for the Truck Series Championship and hopefully we will be celebrating with all the partners after the race."
